

TradeStation® Crypto Announces New Low-Price Plan

New plan drops taker fees by as much as 50 percent to provide a great option for active investors without hidden fees on custody, deposits, or withdrawals.

Plantation, FL (June 1, 2021) – TradeStation Crypto, Inc. (TradeStation Crypto), a subsidiary of TradeStation Group, Inc., announced today a new price plan with reductions in taker fees of up to 50 percent and additional maker fees. And, unlike many competitors, the company charges no fees for crypto custody, deposits, or withdrawals. While other firms may claim to offer free crypto trades, fees are often priced into a marked-up quote feed and operational charges for crypto movement and custody. TradeStation Crypto, in addition to providing easy onboarding and account funding, offers full price transparency with no markups or spreads as well as fast execution through its intelligent routing technology to a range of deep liquidity sources.

“TradeStation Crypto’s goal is to put the customer first, whether new to crypto or a seasoned crypto trader,” said James Putra, TradeStation Crypto’s Vice President, Product Strategy. Not only do we not play games with hidden or embedded fees, we pay our crypto brokerage customers interest on eligible crypto assets in their accounts. We have one of the most competitive crypto offerings in the market.”

Under the new plan, traders with $100K or less of assets in their accounts will benefit from a simple flat commission. Traders with more than $100K of assets in their accounts will enjoy one of the most competitive maker/taker pricing plans in crypto.

As an added benefit of having a TradeStation Crypto brokerage account, TradeStation Crypto pays interest to customers on BCH, BTC, ETH, LTC and USDC holdings. TradeStation Crypto’s interest earning feature was among the first for crypto brokerage accounts. Under the new pricing plan, customers currently earn up to 6%* per annum on eligible crypto assets in their TradeStation Crypto accounts.

TradeStation Crypto believes it is the first crypto offering that uses the true online brokerage model that self-directed traders have come to expect for other asset classes, like equities, options, and futures. In contrast to a crypto exchange model, TradeStation Crypto aggregates multiple pools of liquidity in a consolidated market data feed combined with an intelligent order-routing system to give its customers better visibility and trade execution.

People who want to get started trading crypto should apply for a TradeStation Crypto account through the company’s seamless account opening process. Click here for more information.
